

Japan rubber stocks fall from 4-month high

TOKYO, Jan 28 (Reuters) – Crude rubber inventories at Japanese ports fell by 202 tonnes in the 10 days to Jan. 10 from a four-month peak marked at the end of 2012, according to data from the Rubber Trade Association of Japan.

The level of stocks as of Dec. 31 was the highest since 7,387 tonnes on Aug. 20. Reuters
