

ANPRC Releases Natural Rubber Trends & Statistics, December 2012

The Secretariat of the ANRPC has the pleasure of releasing Natural Rubber Trends & Statistics for December 2012. It provides a comprehensive picture of the current trends in natural rubber market and short-term outlook supported by up-to-date data and forecasts gathered through authentic sources. There are 21 statistical tables providing separate monthly estimates and forecasts for the period up to January 2013 covering Thailand, Indonesia, Malaysia, India, Vietnam, China, Sri Lanka, Philippines and Cambodia. These countries together account for about 93% of the global supply and 57% of the global demand for natural rubber.

This issue highlights a comprehensive analytical report on natural rubber market titled “LOWER NR PRODUCTION FOR 2012”, structures into the following ten sections:

1. Overview
2. Lower Production by 41,000 tons
3. Continuous Exports Cut for 2012
4. Imports Continue to Rise for 2012
5. NR Consumption up by 37,000 tons in 2012
6. Trends in Currencies of NR-Exporting Countries
7. Japanese Yen and TOCOM Futures
8. Influence of Crude Oil
9. Trends in NR Prices
10. 21 Statistical Tables

Access to the publication is limited to the subscribers and member governments only. Please contact us at anrpc.secretariat@gmail.com for joining as a subscriber.