

Japan rubber stocks as of May 20 fall to 2-mth low

June 6 (Reuters) – Crude rubber inventories at Japanese ports as of May 20 fell to 14,881 tonnes, down 756 tonnes over a 10-day period to a two-month low, data from the Rubber Trade Association of Japan showed. Crude rubber inventories as of April 30 exceeded 16,000 tonnes for the first time since June 10, 2007, when inventories totalled 16,717 tonnes.