

Japan Rubber Stocks as of May 31 Fall to Lowest since March

Crude rubber inventories at Japanese ports as of May 31 fell to 14,244 tonnes, down 654 tonnes over an 11-day period to the lowest level since March 10, data from the Rubber Trade Association of Japan showed. Crude rubber inventories as of April 30 exceeded 16,000 tonnes for the first time since June 10, 2007, when inventories totalled 16,717 tonnes. Reuters